marriage to Miss Lillian L. Lark. They were wed on Monday evening by Justice Jeremiah Sheehan, but after three days of marital bliss he sues for divorce.

As a counter to the charges made by Young, the father of the bride, George D. Young, the father of the bride, decise 2. Lark, appeared at the Four Courts Friday afternoon to swear out a warrant for the arrest of his son-in-law on a charge of attempting to poison the girl. After the wedding ceremony Young accompanied his bride to her home, No. 25 South Seventh street, where they established themselves Two days later Young deserted the girl and the suit for divorce followed The attempted poisoning is alleged to have curred the day he left her. There are five counts in the husband's petition. He alleges that he was coerced into the marriage by the threats of his wife's father to kill him unless the ceremony was immediately performed, and by a police of-icer who was called in. He alleges that at no time did he ever voluntarily agree to ficer who was called in. He alleges that at no time did he ever voluntarily agree to marry Miss Lark; that he took the step in order to avoid being prosecuted on a trumped-up charge of seduction; and to secure his release from Four Courts holdover, where he was locked up by the officer, who was a party to the conspiracy and arrested him without a warrant.

Young further alleges that he did not betray the girl; that he met her on June 3, the day of the marriage, and that she entered into a conspiracy with her father and mother and a sergeant of police to force him to marry her then and there.

The officer who made the arrest was Sergeant Woodlock of the Central District. He tells an entirely different story and says the charge that he was a party to any conspiracy is ridiculous. While going over his district on Monday afternoon he was called into 2 South Seventh street, and found Young and Miss Lark in a room on the second floor. George D. Lark, father of the girl, was guarding the door. He was clad only in his underclothing and had just been called from his bed. He told the Sergeant that Mrs. Lark had discovered Young and her daughter in a compromising position. The girl was in tears, and reluctantly admitted the charge. Sergeant Woodlock then arrested Young.

sistent 'questioning, she told little by little the story of her relations with Young, much of which was unknown to her parents. She declared she loved her husband dearly, and even now would be willing to forgive him and live with him if he will return.

"I can't tell why Theodore has done this," she said between sobs. "He was always kind to me, and I know he loved me. Somebody must have forced him to do it. He was as affectionate and good to me after we were married as he was before, and for two days we were happy here together. He did not seem to be dissatisfied in any way. I have never loved any other man, and he was all the world to me. Three years ago we met, and in September he accomplished my ruin. We continued our relations until last February, when he dissavered my condition. He gave me money to defray my expenses, and I had a criminal operation performed. He left town soon after he gave me the money, and did not return until he knew I was out of danger.

and you for a long time. You ruined my daughter and you've got to marry her or die."

"He had no weapon and it was easy to be seen none was concealed about him. When the Sergeant came Theodore asked for time, but we were taken to the Four Courts. His father was sent for and about 6 o'clock we were married at Justice Sheehan's house. A constable accompanied us."

The bride's father corroborated this statement. Her mother was also present and said the zirl had told the truth. Both parents were greatly incensed at Young.

In her excitement Mrs. Lark brought out a small box marked "morphine."

"Look here," she said, "what this man has done. After he did all the harm he could he evidently intended to make way with my child. He gave her this on Wednesday, and told her to take a certain quantity on a teaspoon every two hours. He said it would be good for her blood. I accidentally found it and told her it was poison. She is a mere child, I tell you, and would have taken it just because he told her to. He left the city the next day."

The box bears the printed label of the drug firm of which Young was formerly a member. The writing on the box was in his hand and tallied exactly with letters written to the girl by him. She said her husband gave it to her the last time she saw him. If mother then produced a box containing probably 200 letters, which Young had written to her daughter in the three years of their laison. They were nearly all written on his letterheads and breathed the most loving sentiments. He always adressed her in endearing terms, and the statement that he would die without her is oft repeated.

Sensational allegations are made in a suit filed Thursday afternoon in the Circuit Court by Theodore Young to set aside his marriage to Miss Lillian L. Lark. "Did you not meet Mrs. Coyle while in Chicago?"

"I met the party, yes"—this slowly and with strange emphasis—"but it was in the presence of her cousin in the reception room on the first floor of the hotel. We did not even go to the parlor. The cousin came to me and said there was one matter the party wanted to settle, and I said 'Very well, we'll settle it.' I got to Chicago Tuesday and did not see the party until Wednesday. Our interview lasted only half an hour, perhaps less than that. I did not see them at all yesterday."

"What was the cousin's name?"

"E. A. Breizer, an insurance man."

"Will there be any defense to the divorce suit?"

"None whatever, as far as I know now."

Mr. Coyle repeatedly expressed surprise that the fact of his absence from the city should be the subject of any such construction. At the very last the reporter pluraped the question: "Has there been no reconcillation?"

ing for the best hand in the election fraud game and from present appearances will be able to deal himself a straight flush. It ritz is working and under it those indicted by the present Grand-jury, as well as those previously indicted, who took changes of venue, will have to take their medicine in St. Louis. Mr. Zachritz has arranged to withhold the Grand-jury's final report, with which the election indictments are to be re-turned until June 22. With these indictments will be returned reindictments of all de-fendants whose cases have already been taken to other courts on change of venue. These will therefore come under the new change of venue law, which requires proof of prejudice before such a change can be granted.

date changes of venue will cease to be mere formalities.

Circuit Attorney Zachritz admitted that the Grand-jury's final report will be delayed for the purpose indicated.

"I think I shall have the upper hand then," said Mr. Zachritz, "as these culprits will find it difficult to get their cases out of St. Louis under the new change of venue law. All the cases already taken to other counties will also be tried in St. Louis.

"No: I have asked for no bench warrants, because all the defendants who have so far been indicted are under bond."

A partial report, finishing up the routine work of the Grand-Jury on jail cases and including the result of the investigation of the Circuit Court jury scandal is expected by Saturday morning or Monday.

The cases which have been taken from the Criminal Court on venue changes are those against James Couglin, judge in Precinct 114, to Montgomery County; Wm. P. Cahill, two charges of fraudulent voting; Edw. J. Murphy, judge of Precinct 114; Thomas F. Quinn, procuring fraudulent votes, Precinct 2; George P. Flaherty, judge of Precinct 114, John E. March, judge of Precinct 114, all to Jefferson County; John Whalen and Andrew Cells, Jr., to Cooper County and John Newman and Frank Pessagnic to Franklin County.

A pecultar turn was given the election cases Friday morning. About 11 o'clock Attorney Ben Clark, representing a large number of the defendants, filed a motion before Judge Edmunds asking that certain cases growing out the election fraud indictments, and which were sent to St. Charles County on changes of venue, be brought back to St. Louis. The cases are those against Pat O'Donnell, John L. Powers, Jas. Biggens and Wm. P. Cahill, charged with St. Charles County because more prejudice existed there than in St. Louis.

Only Appointment To Be Made After Promoting Olney.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 7.-Secreta. ries Smith and Herbert did not attend the Cabinet meeting to-day, the former being in Georgia and Mr. Herbert at Annapolis. As-sistant Secretary Uhl appeared with the pa-pers of the State Department, and it was generally understood that this would be his last appearance as Acting Secretary of State. Attorney-General Olney was an early State. Attorney-General Olney was an early arrival, and spent about twenty minutes in the President's private office before the Cabinet meeting. Secretary Lamont, who has been in New York, is understood to have consulted with the New York friends of the President about the Cabinet, while away. He had a consultation with the President. It is generally understood that if all pressing business can be disposed of, the President will leave here éarly next week. Up to noon no definite information was obtained respecting Cabinet appointments, except that the only appointment besides that of Attorney-General Olney to be Secretary of State would be the seléction of a successor of the Attorney-General.

assault to kill. Chief Deputy Anthony issued the warrant at once and a United States Marshal was dispatched to serve the papers on Botsai before the Mary Morton pulled out for her Friday trip.

McKenzie's escape from being murdered was miraculous, According to his story he can produce witnesses to prove that Botsai came upstairs after him, revolver in hand, with the deliberate intention of shooting came upstairs after him, revolver in hand, with the deliberate intention of shooting him full of holes. He might have succeeded if McKenzie had not dodged behind the women and children eating breakfast in the cabin, where the shooting occurred.

McKenzie was waiting on the officers' table. The steward had given orders that as the boat was overcrowded the drew should not be served until the guests had been waited on. Botsai's prospective brother-in-law came to the table and demanded that he be served. When McKenzie refused to wait on him he rushed downstairs to complain to Botsai.

Beveral people saw Botsai rush up to the cabin, revolver in hand. When he reached McKenzie he struck at him with the gun. The negro dodged behind a group of ladies, who sprang to their feet screaming. Botsai pursued him and sent three builets after him as he ran down the stairs. The second shot struck McKenzie in the abdomen, inflicting a painful flesh wound. The shooting created intense excitement, as it was witnessed by numbers of ladies and children breakfasting in the cabin.

McKenzie has the names of the crew who witnessed the shooting, but as he was put off the boat on the Illinois shore he could not get the names of any white passengers, and would be giad if they would inform United States Attorney Clopton and help him prosecute the brutal mate.

McKenzie has also instituted civil proceedings in admiralty for $4,000 damages against the Farmers' and Merchants' Independent Packet Co., owners of the steamer Mary Morton, on which the assault occurred.

The warrant for Botsal was served at once and the prisoner taken before United States Commissioner Gray.

Mate Deshay's Brutality.

Alexander Schea, alias Deshay, mate of the steamer Cherokee, was arrested Friday by a Deputy United States Marshal on a charge of assaulting Wm. Griffin, a roustabout. Griffin is unusually intelligent and quite a handsome fellow. He was assaulted by Deshay on board the steamer April 28, near Caruthersville, Mo. Griffin says he was resting on a barrel April 28, when Deshay, without a word of warning, struck him with a lump of coal, knocking a deep gash in his head and smashing his ear. He became insensible, and in this condition he claims he was removed from the boat and left to care for himself. On the other hand, Deshay claims that Griffin led in the assault and injured him severely. Griffin claims that the other roustabouts went to assistance and the damage to the mat suited. While Deshay was on his way to he Federal Building, Attorney Sutheriand, representing Griffin, filed a suit for damage, in admiralty, for the sum of $3,000 against the steamboat company.

Griffin's left ear was torn in shreds, and although it has healed up, he claims the scar is a damaging reminder.

Deshay was held in 500 bond and the hearing set for next Friday. He was released later.

DOUBLY ASSAULTED.

First Her Lover and Then an Unknown Best Lens Brown.

Lens Brown was peculiarly unfortunate Thursday and Thursday night. She is a colored woman, 35 years old, and lives in a small room in the rear of No. 20 South Fourth street. She has a "man," known as William Douglassy Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock he called upon her. One of their frequent quarries sprang up and Douglass seized her by the hair, knocked her down and repeatedly kicked her in the abdomen. Satisfied with his brutality, he went away. The woman dragged herself to her bed and lay down. She was in great pain and moaned constantly, but no one thought of notifying the police. She was lying there at 3 o'clock Friday morning, when someone entered her room, and in a few moments she was out upon the floor again. Her assailant who had dragged her from her bed carried Douglass' brutality further and fendishly kicked her about the head.

This time the woman's screams attracted attention. Before assistance arrived, however, her unknown assailant had escaped. Dr. O'Gallagher, il6 North Eleventh street, was summoned. He pronounced her injuries serious. The woman refused to go the City Hospital or Dispensary and was taken to the home of her sister, 404 Valentine street.

When the police learned of the two as-Thursday and Thursday night. She is a when the police learned of the two assults they arrested Douglass. He is now held at the Chestnut Street Station to await the result of the woman's injuries.

less, because what he says speaks so clearly for itself.

"The most important thing at this instant," he began, "is the imminent downfall of the Liberal Government in England. The present Government in England. The new Government will be Conservative beyond a doubt. The present Government is distinctly against bimetallism and for a single gold standard, but it is elear that the present Government does not represent the entire English people. The drift of Conservatives is clearly towards bimetallism. Balfour, the most powerful man in the party, is a pronounced bimetallist. He will come into power soon, perhaps within sixty days. I have read a good deal about the strength and growth of the bimetallic leagues as an indication of the movement towards silver, but to my mind these leagues are less significant than the gold defense leagues that are forming in all large dities of the United Kingdom. These gold defense leagues indicate that the gold standard men think the situation very grave. Would you not think it a sign of a mighty Republic here if a number of eminent men were to think it necessary to form leagues and organize a propaganda for insuring the succession of the Prince of Wales and protecting the monarchical principle?"

"Has there not been considerable change of sentiment in Europe," said I, "since the Brussels conference of '92?"

"The change has become most marked. When that conference met, Europe was silent. Her people had not made up their minds. Now, in all of the great countries there is a great and growing belief that the world must go back to the double standard—must find some basis upon which both metals can become active and useful in the money system. The present governments of the various States do not represent the real feeling of their people upon the money question. Wherever this has been tested, it has been shown that the governments stood, as to be expected, with the naturally conservative banking interests in resisting the demands of the people."

WANT THE CONVENTION.

Business Men Favor Holding the Silver Gathering Here.

The fact that there is no longer any doubt that the free silver Democrats will hold a National Convention, probably some ime in August, has called the attention of the business men of St. Louis to the importance of securing it for this city. Chairman Hinrichsen of the Illinois State Committee has stated that if the National Committee fails to act, there will be a meeting of representatives of the State Committees and these representatives will arrange for a National Convention. The meeting of the State representatives will be held in St. Louis the last of June.

The Convention Committee of the Business Men's League is the channel through which action in securing conventions for St. Louis is usually taken. The members of the committee to whom a Post-Dispatch reporter talked were all heartily in favor of making an effort to secure the convention. They thought that from a business point of view it would be a good thing and that that was all that should be considered. The committee will meet in a few days and at that time the question will probobly be discussed. portance of securing it for this city. Chair-that that was all that should be consented. The committee will meet in a few days and at that time the question will probobly be discussed.

Wm. A. Stickney said he was heartily in favor of offering inducements to bring the convention here. "I have not heard much about it." said he, "but if there is going to be a convention we want it. The more conventions we can get the better it is for the city. You can put me down as emphatically in favor of the movement. It would bring a great many people here, and help the city."

Given Campbell said if a convention was going to be held an organized effort should be made to bring it to St. Louis. He would not regard it as a political matter, but simply as being a good thing for the city. "St. Louis is the best convention city in the conventions we can get."

Thomas Booth, another member of the conventions we can get."

Thomas Booth, another member of the convention committee of the Business Men's League, said, of course, some action should be taken to bring the convention here, although it was a new question to him, and he had not given it any consideration. He, like the other members of the committee spoken to, regarded it from a purely St. Louis point of view, and he therefore was in favor of it.

E. O. Stanard, when the question was presented to him said: "Now, you know, of course, that I do not agree with the people who want the convention on the money question, but that has nothing to do with it. I am heartily in favor of doing what we can to have the convention we can, and when it is time to present our claims before the persons authorized to act, I have no doubt that steps will be taken to that end. We want all the conventions we can get the persons authorized to act, I have no doubt that steps will be taken to that end. We want all the conventions to the city and help the town, why we want to go after it. As soon as it gets in such shape that St. Louis, if they are going to have one, and when it is time to present our claims before the persons authorized to act, I

Speaking of the situation in Missouri, Mr. Benton said: "There is no doubt about the seutiment in Missouri. The party is practically unanimous for free silver and a State convention. I am sorry the State Committee took the action it did. My idea is that as soon as a majority of the counties in the State have declared themselves, Mr. Farris should at once notify the State Committee of the fact. I understand that over forty counties have already acted, and it will be but a short time until the majority do. I am not prepared to believe that the State Committee will then refuse to act favorably."

"But if it does?" was suggested.

"Well, I do not want to cross that bridge until we come to it. I prefer to wait and see what will happen after a majority of the counties have expressed themselves."

Mr. J. J. Nelson of Webb City is at the Planters' "I see by the Post-Dispatch that a good many of the delegates to the Illinois Stata Convention were restless and talking of joining the Popullists if the Democrats do not act promptly," said he. "I also see by this morning's papers that there was the same sort of talk at the lowa Convention. I hear the same thing in parts of Missouri. Now the cause of this—and, as I say, the reports from Illinois and lowa, with the feeling here, show that it is wide spread—is distrust of the leaders. The rank and file feel that they are fettered; that their wishes are laughed at, and they have no redress. They are reaching the point where they won't stand it much longer, and when they break loose they are not going to stop to consider what they do. By the way, I am in favor of letting Illinois name the next presidential candidate. She has started the ball rolling, and deserves recognition. I am for Illinois for anything she asks for."

AN OBDURATE CAPTAIN.

The Colima's Commander Blamed fo the Ocean Horror.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 7.-The Call. n its account of the wreck of the Colima, as told by the survivors of the wrecked as told by the survivors of the wrecked vessel, says:

The ship was overloaded, badly overloaded, top-heavy loaded—all agree to it. When the gale struck her she weathered it, but badly. Then she careened. There was a list to starboard, and she did not right again. Men called out to the Captain to cut away the deck loading of heavy spars. The Captain was obdurate. He knew his business, or fancied that he did, and would brook no suggestions from what he called the terrified and panic-stricken passengers. And they probably were all that he called them, for they could see death staring them in the face, while the Captain remained blind.

The ship listed more and more. With an

The ship listed more and more. With apprehension, everybody waited, held their breath, till she should bear up and right again, but she did not right. She listed still more. Then she lost her steering power, the Captain rang for more steam, and would not cut loose the deck load, that might have saved her. The engines were taxed to their utmost, still the vessel listed. The panic on board grew worse, the fear of death more intense. Then the Captain gave orders for the crew to keep the passengers so far as to withold life preservers from the passengers and prevent those who sought to do so to come on deck, where they might have had a chance of battiling with the waves, it is not known at this time. Perhaps some further investigation will shed some light on the point.

At all events, the effects of those orders were to turn the crew and subaltern tyrants, who acted as though to prevent any one from escaping the doom that yawned before them. Steerage and cabin passengers say they sought to obtain life preservers, and were forcibly restrained from doing so. Down in the steerage a guard was posted at the companion way door, and those who escaped to the deck in time to cast themselves into the sea before the vessel went down, did so only by main force, by kicking and fighting their way past the guard.

TO HAND OUT THE PLUMS. HAS BORROWED

Gov. Stone Preparing to Fill Vacant State Offices.

Gov. Stone arrived in the city Thursday night, registering at the Laclede. In consequence, the hotel rotunda was crowded with men who wanted an office, or have a friend who wants one, long before the Governor had his breakfast. The Governor must have had a tip on the number and quality of his visitors, for he stopped just long enough to shake hands with a few friends, and then disappeared so mystericusly that the crowd did not know he was gone for half an hour afterward.

To a Post-Dispatch reporter Gov. Stone said: 'I am here on my way back from Columbia, and will be in the city until Saturday night. I am here to look up the matter of appointments, and I propose to get rid of them at once. I have quite a number to dispose of. Besides the St. Louis appointments there are a Police Commissioner and a Judge of the Criminal Court of St. Joseph, and a Circuit Judge at Sedalia to be named. I want to get them all off my hands, and will take them up as soon as I get back to Jefferson City."

The Governor said he hadn't time to talk silver or State convention just now. He believed the masses of the Democracy were looking out for that; and his views were so well known that there was no necessity to repeat them.

The Governor's definite announcement that he intends to make his appointments as soon as he returns to Jefferson City will make his stay in St. Louis an interesting onc. He intends to take up not only the Police Commissionerships, but the Labor Commissionership, the Coal Oil Inspectorship, and the Election Commissionerships. There are plenty of candidates for each office, but there is more of a fight for the Police Commissionership than the others, although the office pays less than any of the others. The Governor stated positively that he had not definitely determined whom he will appoint to any of the offices, and that any predictions as to what he was going to do were mere guesses. He admitted that he would probably know before he left Saturday night.

The names most mentioned for Police Commissioners Balekenn

It is generally recognized that the Governor has a way of keeping his own counsel, and acting for himself, and while there will be more good things distributed Monday than there has been at one time since the Governor was elected, no one pretends to be able to name the winners in advance.

WOODLOCK'S RECORD.

He Ought to Be Able to Help the Election Fraud Inquiry.

Patrick J. Woodlock, whilom confidential aids to Ed Butler in the Nineteenth Ward, is a member of the Grand-jury charged, among other things, with the investigation of the April election. Woodlock is "at outs" with Manipulator Butler.

He is something of a manipulator himself, as was shown in the municipal election of 1887, when John Egan was nominated on the "straight" Democratic ticker by Woodlock, against the wishes of an overwhelming majority of the Democratis of the ward. Woodlock was, at the same time and by the same vote, elected to the Democratic City Committee for the ward, strictly in Butler's interest. What the people of the ward thought of the "straight" ticket was shown when they got a chance at Egan for the House of Delegates. He received 204 votes, against 539 for John Clark, Independent Democrat: 333 for Louis Stutz, Republican, and 155 for J. B. Williams, Union Labor.

The frauds perpetrated on behalf of the "straight" Democratic ticket in the ward at the primary election were so glaring that there was an almost unanimous demand on the part of fair-minded Democratis that where was an almost unanimous demand on the part of fair-minded Democratis that where was an almost unanimous demand on the part of fair-minded Democratis that where was an almost unanimous demand on the part of fair-minded Democratis that where was an almost unanimous demand on the part of fair-minded Democratis that was not unanimous demand on the part of fair-minded Democratis that was retired by Ed Butler.

The expediency of renting the club's assembly hall to bodies of a political character, in view of the application of the Sound Money League for its use, was generally discused, and finally referred to a committee of one, to be appeinted by the President, with full power to act.

The Committee on Information and Publication was instructed to procure a full line of magazines and periodicals for the reading room. The Post-Dispatch is the only daily paper that has been regularly subscribed for to be placed in the reading room.

The Committee on House Furnishing reported, showing an expenditure of $1,80 for that purpose. The club finances were shown to be in excellent shape.

The subject of permitting the sale of refreshments in the smoking room and billiard room of the clubhouse caused a protracted debate, but it was decided to permit bottled beer only to be sold under strict regulations. Non-intoxicating beverages will also be dispensed. The ground on which the action was taken was that this privilege was a part of the social features of the club, which had been recognized by all politico-social clubs in the country, and made necessary by the competing attractions of saloons, whose worst influences in politics it is the object of the club to counteract.

Randall Will Suit Himself.

Building Commissioner Randall is not dis-turbed by alleged complaints of organized labor that union men are not recegnized in his appointments. Fred Swain has as-sured him the talk is only gossip. Mr. Ran-dall told him fiatly he proposed to run the office as he would his private business. He wanted good men, not ward politicians or bummers, and would treat all men as indi-viduals, not as union men or non-union.

Only those who have spent an evening at the recently opened Suburban Park have any idea of the elegant manner in which this delightful retreat from the hot air of the city has been fitted up. In every respect it is the most attractive and cooles garden in or near the city.

State of Affairs Not at All Satisfactory to the Stockholders, Who Will Probably Act in July.

necessary to carry the company through its troubles. This loan will, it is said, cover all the wheat shortage, the fixed charges running expenses and interest due on the bonds until July 10, when the new crop of wheat will begin coming in. These statements come from friends of the United Elevator Co.

Prominent elevator men on 'Change say the United Elevator Directors are still suppressing important facts, and that it will be found that the sum necessary to tide over the company's difficulties will reach 1400.000.

At the next meeting of the directors Monday an important matter is to be settled, the issuance of more bonds. At present the company has outstanding it, 15,000 of bonds, bearing 6 per cent interest, all of which, with the exception, perhaps, of 2200,000, are first mortgage bonds. With their present troubles the directors have not fully determined whether to rissue more second mortgage bonds or not. Some directors favor an issue of $200,000 second mortgage bonds. Others favor calling in all bonds now outstanding, and the issue then of $1,500,000 first mortgage bonds. It is believed the stockholders would offer no objection to the issue of these bonds, for if bonds are not issued to meet the present exigency, the stockholders will be compelled to pay an assessment on their stock.

The shortage in wheat will be in the neighborhood of 260,000 bushels. The weighers are now being gone over to check out possible clerical errors in figuring the balances and shortages in the elevator:

On 'Change the allegation is made that the shortage came about through the company in this way: On every car coming in or going out of the elevators a toll of five to six bushels has been taken off. This toll, when the wheat is in good condition, results in a large surplus of grain over the amount for which warehouse receipts are given.

It has been usual to anticipate that on a certain amount of wheat handled the surplus will amount to a certain commission firm, the head of which is a director in the elevator company. The crop half that amount of wheat colors, others.

The peculiar methods of management practiced in the elevator company's affairs are shown by the fact that in many cases the commission firm referred to was permitted to issue orders on the company for the delivery of wheat. On these orders the best grade of wheat was always delivered, while the regular order from the office to superintendents was made to read "elevator stock".

superintendents was made to read "elevator stock."

The elevator stock was obtained in an equally peculiar manner. It has been the custom of the company to buy up all the low-grade wheat to be had. No. 4, rejected and no grade. These grades were handled in the elevators until the grade was brought up somewhat, and then on legitimate orders this grain was mixed with the No. 2 and No. 3. leaving the surplus belonging to the elevator company of the best grade.

The claim made by the officers of the elevator company that the elevators have not been weighed up for six years is pronunced false. It has been the custom at regular intervals to send to the superintendent a memorandum of the amount of grain for which receipts on their elevators were out, with a request that the figures be verified by actual weights. The superintendents then proceeded to weigh up their stocks of grain and turned in the actual weights.

It has been claimed by officers of the comthen proceeded to weigh up their stocks of grain and turned in the actual weights.

It has been claimed by officers of the company that at least twenty persons have been arrested for pilfering grain from the elevators, the inference being held out that they were all employes. As a matter of fact but one employe has been charged with stealing, the arrested parties being petty pilferers, who took grain from cars before it was weighed into the elevators. This was not a loss to the elevator company, but fell on the farmers or the railroads.

The verification of elevator weights was also accomplished in another way. It has been the custom at the beginning of the season to fill all houses to their capacity. All orders for the delivery of grain were then sent to single houses until one house was emptied. No grain was sent to that house until it was emptied, the later arrivals being sent to other houses. By this method any shortage in single elevators would have been discovered at once.

The mixing of grades has been common practice and has left the surplusage, or tollage, belonging to the company, all of the best grade. This mixing is contrary to the law, but for some unknown reason has apparently never been discovered by the State grain inspectors on either side of the river. It is stated that the St. Louis Elevator is full of weevil, which proved such an evil as to necessitate the putting in of fans. This pest is said to have had much to do with the present shortage. It is also said that if there is a shortage in wheat there must also be one in other grain as well.

When the shortage of the United Elevator

United Elevator Co. Is Loaned $275,000 to Meet Its Shortage.

CRITICISE THE MANAGEMENT.

It is positively stated by a reliable authority that the St. Louis United Elevator Co. has already berrowed the sum of $275,000 from the Mississippi Valley Trust Co. This action was found by the directors to be necessary to carry the company through its troubles. This loan will, it is said, cover ber of stockholders densuinced Friesdent Samuels and Secretary Sizck for bad management, and the directors were inclined to Join in the denunciation. But as more startling facts began to develop from day to day, the stockholders finally had their eyes opened, and now they are blaming the directors as much as the officials of the company. The stockholders want to know why the directors allowed such loose management to previal for six years without instituting any reform. The justice of this charge of the stockholders is evident when some of the directors frankly acknowledge that the directory is to be blamed.

The elevators of the United Elevator Company carried about 6,000,000 bushels of wheat from last December to the first of last May. The value of this wheat for cash last December was 52 cents. It sold for the future month of May at 57 cents and May prices. Out of this difference of 5 cents per bushel is to be deducted 2½ cents for interest, insurance and brokerage. The brokerage came in when the company employed certain commission firms to buy and sell grain for it. After deducting these expenses the storage amounted only to 2½ cents per bushel for five mouths, which on 6,000,000 bushels would be $150,000 profit.

But the running expenses of the company amount to $30,000 a month, which, for the five months from December to May, would exactly swallow the storage on the 6,000,000 bushels would be $150,000 profit.

But the running expenses of the company broke even the first of May. If no trouble had arisen the company would have had to borrow only $75,000 to defray the running expenses of its elevators until the middle of July, when the new crop of grain will begin to come in. But, unfortunately, the shortage in wheat, that will amount to $60,000 bushels, was discovered at this very time. The company was compelled, therefore, to borrow only $75,000 secured from the Mississiph Valley _rust Co. $20,000 is to cover the shortage for the next two will be profits of the previous three months, it is said. JUSTICES' EXPENSES.

Bills Show Prodigality of Furnishings Which Was Not Contemplated. When the Municipal Assembly was considering the bill creating the com and to furnish supplies, etc., there was a hitch, which has resulted in the disclosure and to furnish supplies, etc., there was a hitch, which has resulted in the disclosure of extravagances in furnishing which were not contemplated by the bill.

The House of Delegates adopted amendments changing the personnel of the commission from the Mayor, Comptroller and City Counselor to the joint Ways and Means Committee of both houses, and giving the Justices the right to appoint their own janitors. In a conference the House yielded, but provision was made for the payment of rent and other expenses and debts for supplies contracted while the bill had been pending.

Thus given carte blanche some of the Justices waded in. Expensive roll-top desks and elegant chairs to match were previded for Justices and Constables. They were selected and purchased by the officials without the usual course of proposals and bids. When the bills came in it was found that for furniture and office fixtures alone for the nine offices the bills aggregated $2,880.17.

This was not equally divided. The bills were: First District, $25.19; Second, $30.65; Third, $312; Fourth, £5.69; Fifth, $312, $5.

The printing and stationery bills showed an equal range; First District, $37.65; Second, $144.70; Third, $150.05; Fourth, $58.75;

Fifth, $9 cents; Sixth, $158.65; Seventh, $56.45;

Eighth, $33.10; Ninth, $78.78.

Because of the idea that there has been a holding back of fees, it is reported that the Grand-jury is likely to investigate the Justices' offices, and it is rumored, in view of the possibility, that some supplemental returns will be made to the Treasurer.

SHALL THE MACHINE RULE!

Democrats who insist that the party must bow down to the fetich of the party machine give foolish counsel. It is sometimes the highest duty of the voters to smash the machine in order to get rid of the incubus of bad leadership.

The Post-Dispatch has pointed out how the machine leadership of the Missour Democracy has converted the Democratic majority of from 40,000 to 60,000 votes in this State into a minority. Under the controlled both the State and Nationa organizations the Democrats of Missouri have marched to defeat.

The same thing has happened in Ken tucky. The Republicans of that State have just held an enthusiastic conven tion, inspired by the expectation of carrying the State. At the last Congression al election the Republicans polled a majority of the votes cast in Kentucky. It has joined Missouri in the Republican

The colored cover for next Sun Post-Dispatch will be one of the best and brightest that has yet appeared. Some of the most noted humorists of the day have put forth their greatest efforts to enliven its pages. It is brimming with good things, inside and out, and contains as much food for laughter as any 10-cent copy of Puck or Judge. As long as you get this colored cover with your Sunday Post-Dispatch you will have no fear of passing a dull day.

THE PRESS AND THE PROPLE.

Would Chairman Maffitt and the ma fority of the members of the Democratio State Committee assert that the country newspapers do not reflect the sentiment

Yet this is precisely what they do assert when they say there is no evidence that the Democrats of Missouri want a State Convention to express the will of the party on the silver question.

The Post-Dispatch publishes to-day s olumn of extracts from the Democratic State press denouncing the action of the State Committee in not calling a conven-tion and insisting that a convention be held in spite of the committee. This is one of many columns of State press clip-pings published from day to day by the Post-Dispatch demanding a State Con-vention and asserting that nine-tenths of the Democrats want it. If all expressions of this kind were published the greater part of the Post-Dispatch would be filled with them.

We challenge Mr. Maffitt to find ten Democratic newspapers of the city on Democratic newspapers of the city or country in Missouri not advocating free silver coinage and a State Convention. papers not in favor of a convention despite the decree of the State Committee, The voice of the Missouri Democratic press is practically unanimous on this subject, If nine-tenths of the Democrats of the State do not want a State Convention this summer their newspapers are as ignorant of their sentiments as if they were published in Russia under the censorship of the Czar. UNITED STATES OPTIONS.

The local Republican organ remarks: "It is probably true that Japan would like to annex Hawali, but the United States has an option in that matter which will not be relinquished in favor of any other country."

The Democratic Administration has already relinquished the option on Hawaii which the Harrison Administration secured by force, but even if the Republicans were in power it is doubtful whether they would attempt to renew the option or realize upon it if renewed. It would probably depend upon what the Trust magnates and bond-holders wanted.

The United States had an option to pay its bonded debt in greenbacks, but it relinguished it without an equivalent at the bidding of the bond-holders.

The United States had an option to pay its bonded debt in silver, but it reli quished that because the bond-holders preferred gold.

The United States had an option to pay its treasury notes and certificates in silver, but it surrendered that at the dictation of the money power, to the inestimable loss of the country.

If the Republican party has ever re fused to surrender an option of the Government when its surrender would benefit the favored few who control the slush funds the instance is not recorded.

CAESAR'S MEAT.

Mr. Hugh McGowan of Kansas City attended the State Committee meeting as proxy of Mr. Corrigan of the Fifth District. Before the adjournment for the races Mr. McGowan had declared himself in favor of calling a convention. When the vote was taken after the races he voted against a convention. Mr. McGowan's only explanation of his change of mind is that between the two meetings of the committee he received a lot of telegrams from Democrats in the Fifth District urging him to vote for a convention. He would not be "bull-dozed," he said, and therefore voted exactly the opposite from what the Democrats he was supposed to be representing wanted. It is to be presumed that if the Democrats of the Fifth District had urged Mr. McGowan to vote against a convention he would have voted for it to show that he can't be "bulldozed."

This is his conception of the duty of a member of the party's executive committee. It seems to be the prevailing conception among most of the committeemen. Is it any wonder that with such a committee the Democrats of Missouri have been led to disgraceful defeat? Can they expect anything but continued defeat from following it further?

EFFICIENT FENDERS WANTED.

It is difficult to credit the reports that the Board of Public Improvements is giving favorable consideration to street-car fenders which require the action of the motorneers to make them effective.

It has been proved conclusively by practical experience that the snap-an 'em fender which is tucked up under the platform until the motorneer or gripman eleases it is as dangerous as the fenderless car-more so, perhaps, because it creates a feeling of false security. The prearranged test with sacks of salt and straw men when the operator knows exactly what is expected of him and is prepared for it is not a proof of the effici of such fenders. The test of a fender is the sudden emergency when the car runs instantly on a person who gets in the way and there is no time to release a complicated trigger contrivance. Even when there is a little time for preparation the street car man has as much as he can do to reverse the power and put on the brakes. It is folly to depend for the sav-moment of great excitement.

The street car managers want the tucked-up trigger contrivances because they say they avoid collisions with vehicles and other objects and save expenses Collisions can be avoided with good fenders, but even if there were force in thi argument it would not hold good under the law, which does not contemplate protecting vehicles and the pocketof corporations, but saving human life.

The Democratic State Confer which met at Des Moines yesterday was participated in by a larger number of the representative and influential Demo-crats of the State than any State Con-vention ever held in Iowa. It declared vention ever held in Iowa. It deciared the free and unlimited coinage of both gold and silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, without waiting for the action of other nations, to be a cardinal principle of Dem-ocratio faith, and appointed a State Ex-ecutive Committee to carry on a campaign of education along the lines laid down by the conference. It is believed that a considerable majority of Iowa Democrats favor the free coinage of sil

The Commercial Travelers are not op posed to a third term for a good man. They have re-elected Hon. John A. Lee of this city to the presidency of their Na-tional Association for the third time and by a unanimous vote. It was a high but deserved recognition of Mr. Lee's efficient service as chief executive officer of the sociation. His incumbency has been the association's period of greates growth and prosperity. He has multi-plied its membership by three.

The new Kentucky Republican platform favors an American policy which will protect Americans and American interests. How Americans and American interests are to be protected by cowardly submission to the foreign scheme of appreciating gold and depreclating silver is not explained in this platform. In fact, platforms hardly ever explain anything.

Thinking they have a chance to win this year, the Kentucky Republicans have refused to put a colored man on their ticket, though they are absolutely dependent upon the colored vote. Not only this, but they have refused to put the portrait of a coon on the ballots, substituting the eagle, which some of the colored voters do not know from a Demo cratic bird.

The proposed ticket of Harrison and Elkins, if successful, would make Mr. Elkins the presiding officer of the Senate. That body has about come to the level of such a President, and Steve might as well manage it as anyone else if it is to follow the exceedingly crooked ways into which it has of late years straggled.

While prices are tending upward it is well to note the extremely low price at which a first-class newspaper, such as the Post-Dispatch, is given to the public. Only the great circulation which it has attained would warrant the expenditure necessary in making the Post-Dispatch

One of the passengers by the new St. Louis was a Standard Oil official, going out to capture the oil trade of the Argentine Republic. With an Argentine demand the monopoly will perhaps see its way to still further advancing the price of its product at home.

Summer advertising is very important, notwithstanding the summer departures from town. The most effective summe advertising can be done in the Post-Dispatch, the circulation of which so much exceeds that of its contemporaries.

The fact that rounds of applause followed the prayer of Rabbi Moses at the opening of the Kentucky Republican Convention indicated that the anti-silver stump speech incorporated in it was not wholly intended for the Lord.

Watching the thermometer and obof the Post-Dispatch's already great circulation will be among the summer occupations of St. Louis advertisers during their leisure hours.

One of the ablest men of the Jewish faith in Kentucky once described Rabbi Moses as a crank. It does look as if a Rabbi who would make a gold-bug praye in a political convention might be a little "off." There are said to be new faces in the Democratic meetings that are called in the interest of bimetallism. The old leaders will do well to consider these new faces. There is a great deal of meaning in them. Perhaps the delay in the Cabinet ap-ointment is caused by the inability of the President to decide upon just what corporation lawyer ought to be put in the place of Mr. Olney.

The anti-convention decree of the Democratic State Committee is supported by an overwhelming majority of Missouri Republicans as well as by the Adminis tration cuckoos.

From the Sedalia Democrat.

That there is a demand for a State convention cannot be denied. That this demand has not been expressed officially is due to the respect which the committee-men in many counties had for the State Committee, and the confidence that that nittee would do its duty. The refus will place that committee in the position of being coerced and disciplined by the masses of the party, and can but weaken the confidence in the committee and its power for good. Many free coinage Democrats, and they constitute nine-tenths of the party in this State, will hereafter instinctively feel that the committee is against them, and there will be doubt and disaffection where there should have been confidence, respec

Globe-Democrat.

Who are these spirits the Silver Convention seeks to call? They are the spirits of the framers of the Constitution. Those men who declared that no State who formed the original Union should make anything but gold and silver a legal tender—those self-same spirits who declared, on June 30, 1889, "that the fees and dues collected into the United States Treasury should be ingold and silver," To these we may add the spirit of Jefferson, Jackson and Benton and the host of the Constitution lovers, who fought the Hamilton, Sherman, Cleveland, Carlisle wing to a successful issue from 1834 to '40 and established a hard money constitutional basis up to 1890. Try to concell its attach. By the service of the constitutional basis up to 1890. The Democrats of Missouri should feel grateful to you for the bold stand you have grateful to you for the bold stand you have taken to demand justice for the Democrate State. The Democratic State Central Committee that has refused to call a Democratic Convention to allow them to express their opinions on the currency question, our National Central Committeeman, Mr. Griff Prather, our State Central Committee, Mr. C. C. Maffitt, Francis & Co., also our City Central Committee, with the St. Louis Republic, are back numbers, and should be retired at once for the good of the party. Give us a convention. Let Maffitt, Francis and the Republic put up gold-bug diegates in every county and wards of our city, and let the majority rule. This is Democratic and should be done at once.

We, the American people, are a long forbearing race, and permit ourselves to be imposed upon too long, but there is a limit, and at the proper time the good common sense of the people will relegate all bribearses and bossism—from President, Supreme Judge, corporation lobbyists to a cross roads lawyer—to the rear.

It is said that the smallest piece of painting the world has recently been executed by a Flemish artist. It is painted on the smooth side of a grain of common white corn, and pictures a mill and a miller mounting the stairs with a sack of grain on his back. The mill is represented as standing on a terrace, and near it is a horse and cart, while a group of peasants are shown in the road near by. The picture is beautifully distinct, every object being finished with microscope fidelity, yet by careful measurement it is shown that the whole painting does not cover a surface of half an inch spuare.

Former Owners of Trust Distilleries Ready to Seize Them.

FIRE-ARMS MAY BE USED.

Claimed That if the Trust Is Declared Illegal Former Owners Can Recover Distilleries.

CHICAGO. Ill., June 7 .- A local pape says: Every distillery in the United States trolled by the Whisky Trust has been turned into an arsenal.

For nearly a month past Unit 1 States Deputy Marshals have had their quar-ters in the distilleries. They are all heavily armed and prepared to resist any at-tack that may be made, or any attempt to ke possession. It is not incendiaries or mamiters that the receivers fear. A decisis daily expected from the Supreme ourt of the State which may have the efourt of the State which may have the effect of precipitating hostilities. These may take a civil form and add a new phase of litigation to the legal troubles of the trust. On the other hand they may be of a more forceful character in the nature of a pitched battle with fire arms. The anxiously expected decision is in the case of the Distilling and Cattle Feeding Co. vs. the People, ex rel., the Attorney-General Moloney filed information for a writ of quo warranto, declaring the company to be an illegal incorporation in effect, a trust, and existing contrary to the anti-trust laws of the State. He was sustained by the Circuit Court. The decision was appealed by the trust to the Supreme Court and a decision, it is expected, will be handed down within a few days.

the Supreme Courf and a decision, it is expected, will be handed down within a few days.

The effect of a decision sustaining the action of the Attorney-General and the decision of the Lower court, would, it is claimed, be much more far-reaching than to simply cause a disintegration of the trust. If the contention of some of the anti-trust corporations be correct, it will have the effect of restoring to the original owners of the distilleries all right and title to the various plants, on the ground that all sales to the trust were illegal and that any and all contracts made with the trust were in violation of the anti-trust statutes and therefore void.

While, so far as can be learned, there has been no concerted movement on the part of the original owners to take forcible possession of the properties in case the decision is favorable to the Attorney-General there have been enough individual moves in this direction to alarm the receivers—and hence the heavily armed guard of United States Deputy Marshals in the distilleries. There are twenty-nine bonded distilleries in the trust, with more than eighty plants. Twenty of these are located in Illingis and five in Cook County. The value is many millions of dollars, and it seems to be the opinion of outsiders as well as of the receivers of the trust, that the original owners will make a strong fight to get possession should the Supreme Court decision be favorable to them. Such a decision might involve the State of Illinois in a conflict with the United States authorities in order to enforce the action of its highest judicial tribunal, although it is a remote probability.

Hennessey, Director and late Sections of the Trust, said: "We have not the section of the properties of the trust, have not the section of the properties of the trust, the have not the united States authorities in order to enforce the action of its highest judicial tribunal, although it is a remote probability.

tribunal, although it is a remote probability.

P. J. Hennessey, Director and late Secretary of the Trust, sald: "We have no means of knowing what the decision of the Supreme Court will be, but we have been led to expect the decision this week. I have heard that the present receiver of the trust has located armed United States Marshals in the various distilleries where trouble might be expected. We certainly expect a favorable decision and will take immediate possession of the property. It is safe to say that we would try to regain what has been taken from us, if we have the right to do so."

CITY DISPENSARIES.

Changes and Creation of Subdivisions Recommended by Starkloff. Health Commissioner Starkloff think the City Dispensary insufficient for the demands of the public, its location far from esidence districts detracting from its use fulness. He thinks branch dispensaries ar fulness. He thinks branch dispensaries are needed, each fully equipped with drugs, instruments, and an ambulance service. He has recommended to the Health Board that the city be divided fint three dispensary districts, Central, bounded by Cass, Cherokee, Grand avenue and the river; Second, north of Easton and west of Grand; third, south of Cherokee and Gravois, each branch to have one physician and one ambulance. These changes would cost $7,000 per year. Dr. Hughes recommended another sub-dispensary in the neighborhood of Tower Grove avenue and Manchester road. The Board decided to ask the Municipal Assembly to authorize these changes.

BUTLER KNOCKED OUT.

Health Board Refuses to Act on the House Resolution.

The Sanitary Committee of the House of Delegates met in open session Friday morning to consider Mr. Kelly's resolution requiring the Board of Health to make daily removals of offal from the slaughter houses. The committee came to the conclusion that the Board of Health knew its business without dictation from the House of Delegates, and will report the resolution without recommendation for the House to dispose of.

Mr. Mepham led the opposition to the resolution. At the first meeting of the committee he was the only opponent. He read the exposure in the Post-Dispatch of the scheme in the interest of Col. Ed Butler. He said the matter concerned the Board of Health alone, that there was no reason why the city should pay for the daily removal of garbage for one class of citizens, that they could cremate or haul their offal away at their own expense if it became a nuisance; that it was valuable to fertillising concerns, who gaid some of the hotels if they could not get it otherwise, and said finally that he believed Col. Butler would make daily femovals if not paid for it just as he had done all winter, as he was interested in the sanitary company.

COYLE DIVORCE CASE

Called in Judge Russell's Court and No Defense Made.

If Mr. and Mrs. James F. Coyle had a reconciliation in Chicago Wednesday it must have been a sort of final billing and coolng, for the divorce proceedings instituted by the offended husband went right along Friday morning in Judge Thomas A. Russell's Court just as though they were the worst enemies in the world. It really wouldn't do for them to put up any such hotel register relations for long, even in Chicago, else Chandler, who just at present is doomed to crack rocks down toward Carondelet, might retailate.

The divorce case came up Friday morning in Judge Russell's Court and no representative of Mrs. Coyle being present it went over to the default docket.

It was generally known among those who take a morbid interest in such erotic matters that the case was on Judge Russ'll's docket and the usual crowd of hangers-on was largely increased in the hope of a judy spread of scandal being laid before them. They were disappointed, however.

Attorney Ford Smith appeared for the plaintiff. He asked the court that the case be put on the default docket and this request was granted.

HOME MISSIONS. Report of the Secretary of the Evangelical Lutheran Church. HAGERSTOWN, Md., June 7.-The elev enth biennial report of the Board of Home Missions was delivered by Rev. Dr. A Stewart Hartman, Secretary at Genera Stewart Hartman, Secretary at General Synod Evangelical Lutheran Church, Hagerstown, at to-day's session. It states that the balance in the hands of the Treasurer on March 31 was 33,882.13. To this amount was added during the two years, $85,230.21, making available for the work of the board $85,592.34. This is an increase over the previous two years of $74,429.81 in total receipts. The increase from the synods was $5,074.92. Among the other receipts are from the Woman's Missionary Society $19,600, an increase of $364; from Individuals and not credited on the apportionment, $1,938, an increase of $524; from Sunday schools a little over $21,000, an increase of about $5,000.

of that branch, showing the contributions to have been $1,100.

Much time was spent in considering the applications of renewal of licenses of those working in the evangelistic field. The licenses of H. C. Hart and James McGann were not renewed. The former's was lost by one, the latter's by a number of votes. Rev. Mr. Gott prefaced the voting on his license by a recital of the merits and hardships of his work in the slums. He was relicensed as a local preacher.

While the meeting was going on the ladies of the congregation were busy preparing a repeat for the ministers and delegates. The afternoon session was consumed by the election of delegates for the next annual conference and a praise offering. During Thursday's session Dr. Messick ruled that a local preacher is licensed to labor within definite limits, and that his license does not permit him to go about as an evangelist, as the office of evangelist is not known in Southern Methodism. He also ruled that the Christian Endeavor Society cannot be recognized as an organization in the Methodist Church, no matter how good its work.

For the evening the annual meeting of the different chapters of the Southern Methodist Epworth League will be held at the christian Endeavor MeLanshan—Conn.

McLanahan—Conn.

The marriage of Miss Nancy Dodge Conn to Mr. Wm. Greene McLanahan was quietly celebrated on Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock at the residence of her aunt, Mrs. Rebecca A. Sire. It was a rose wedding. Broad white satin ribbons separated the pariors, and an orchestra of mandolins played the wedding march, as the bridal pair descened the stairway into the drawing room, where the Rev. Dr. Cannon of the Grand Avenue Presbyterian Church performed the ceremony. The bride wore a gown of heavy white duchess satin, made en traine, perfectly plain, the low corsage softened with white chiffon used with blouse effect, a deep bertha of fine point lace falling from the shoulders over the large puffed sleeves and held in place by a garland of white brides' roses, which extended down the front of the skirt. Her veil of tulle was confined to her dark hair with white roses, and her only ornament was a necklace of pearls, a bridal gift from her aunt, Miss Amie Green, family jewels, reset for the bride. There were only forty guests present, old friends of the family for many years. Mrs. Sire and her nieces, Mrs. McLanahan and Miss Annie Green received the guests.

Political Preferment.

Length of service does not count in these days of political appointments at the City Hall. There were 4,400 applicants in the Health Department for between 300 and 400 positions, so that whatever efforts were made not more than 10 per cent could be placed. Still no opportunities were overlooked and so it cames about that old John Fleming, who has faithfully driven an ambulance through every successive administration for twenty years, has been turned out, and so has John Dwyer, who has rendered equally faithful service for ten years. Dwyer has been replaced by Henry Moli as a reward for his activity in unearthing alleged election frauds in the Second Ward. Political Preferment.

Will Downs Contessed His Guilt Just Before His Execut

MORRILLTON, Ark, June 7.—Will Downs, a negro rapist, was hanged here this morning at 7 o'clock. He ascended the scaffold with a firm tread and made a speech of about three minutes' in length, in which he acknowledged his guilt.

While it was hard to die on the scaffold he said he had brought it on himself. He had made peace with his God and was going to Heaven and wanted all to meet him there. The drop of eight and one-half feet did not break his neck and death was caused by strangulation. On the 8th of December, 1894, Downs committed an assault on Polly Brightenbaugh, a little German girl, 12 years of age.

Ills., June 7.—While Daniel Berry was acting Speaker of the House last night, Speaker Meyer feeling too ill to officiate, he insisted on having a roll-call on the final passage of Coon's Senate bill providing for the incorporation of cities and villages, although Mr. Storkopf, Democrat, demanded recognition. Fandemonium reigned for awhile, members pounding their desks with canes, ink wells, books or anything else which was handy. The members crowded up to the Speaker's chair and Meyer gave Berry the cue to leave the chair, advice he was not slow to adopt. Storkopf then spoke in favor of the bill and it passed by a vote of 104 to 8.

not slow to adopt. Storkopf then spoke in favor of the bill and it passed by a vote of 104 to 8.

The trembling Berry had not long resumed the chair when two Republican members, Miller of Cook and Lowenthal, got into a wrangle over Crawford's civil service bill. Lowenthal said it was to keep political heelers of Cook County in soft jobs and Miller insinuated that Lowenthal had been "fixed" to defeat the bill. The latter called him a faisifier, but Speaker Meyer got Acting Speaker Berry to call a halt. The bill passed by a vote of 92 to 19.

HOW A HORSE

San Blas Brought a Teamster Into Prominence Thursday.

MIKE LARISSEY'S GOOD NAG.

Owner of the Mississippi Valley Winner Was a Porter and Drifted on the Turf Through His Son.

the Mississippi Valley Stakes came like a thunderclap out of a clear sky to the big crowd at the Fair Grounds Thursday. As good as 100 to 1 straight, 40 to 1 place and 20 to 1 to show were laid against San Blas' chances and his win was the biggest surprise to the local turfites since "Knapsack" McCarthy, Plenty at 250 to 1 forehand first prise to the local turfites since "Knapsack" McCarthy's Pienty at 250 to 1 finished first at East St. Louis two years ago.

The field in yesterday's stake included The Ironmaster. Sumo. Wekota, Ben Lomand and Pocahontas. Ed Corrigan wired Aleck Ullman to bet 550 on The Ironmaster for him. Barney Schreiber had a swell bet on The Kitten and Leo Mayer backed Wekota from 8 to 1 down to 7 to 2.

In chasing the speedy Ben Lomond, who set the pace, The Ironmaster and Wekota ran themselves out. Then San Blas came through and won in the fast time of 141%, equaling Figaro's track record performance the other day.

San Blas is a typical East Side skate, having raced regularly at both Madison and East St. Louis during the past year. He is a good-looking buy by Volante, and with proper handling would have demonstrated before this that he was a better horse than given credit for.

San Blas bleongs to Mike Larissey, a proper handling would have demonstrated before this that he was a better horse than given credit for.

San Blas belongs to Mike Larissey, a North St. Louis teamster, who was employed in the capacity of a porter by a local hardware house until he decided to go on the turf. In addition to looking after the portering himself personally, Larissey had a contract with his employers to do their teaming. He drifted on the turf through his son, who used to ride for the well-known Dan Honig at Gloucester and Guttenberg. Larissey's teams were hauling hardware from one side of the river to the other and while supervising them he found time frequently to visit the East St. Louis track and put down a bet on one of his son's mounts at Gloucester or Guttenberg.

After he got possession of San Blas Larissey went in for the business extensively. At Madison last fail he ran San Blas and bet $30 on him. The horse got a bad break at the post and Larissey gued Bookmaker Louis Cella for the return of his money. The case attracted considerable attention in local turf circles at the time. After he sued Cells the Madison management barred Larissey and his horse, compelling him to confine his operations on the turf around this city to East St. Louis.

Johnny Mooney, the jockey, bet $5 against $500 on San Blas and lost his wining on Couronne D'Or.

AULL SUCCEEDS BURKE.

The Third Judge Has Beeen Promoted for the Extended Meeting.

The Fair Association has perfected ar-The Fair Association has perfected arrangements with the betting ring lessees for the extension of the meeting for two weeks. The East St. Louis Jockey Club has had the betting privileges, paying $2,500 a day for them, during the regular meeting. The Fair Association wanted this sum during the extension, but the East St. Louis folks could not see their way clear to pay it, and a hitch followed. Matters were finally settled satisfactorily, however, and at a meeting of the racing stewards last night Mr. Robert Auil, who has been acting as third judge, was gelected to succeed Judge Burke, when he goes away next Thursday, in view of the fact that the association will not get as large a sum for its privileges during the extension as it did for the regular meeting, it is probable that the value of the purses will be lowered slightly.

FELIX CARR'S FEAT.

Schreiber's Jockey Was Too Much for the Unbroken Circus Donkey. The "dinkey" circus man, with his champion trick donkey, ran up against a snag pion trick donkey, ran up against a snag-near the Fair Grounds last night. The cir-eus is one of those fly-by-night affairs, showing on corner lots in North St. Louis. Last night it held forth convenient to the race track, and the spectators included a great many jockeys and stable boys. The star feature of the show is a trick donkey, and the ringmaster offered a handsome cash and the ringmaster offered a handsome cash reward to anyone who could stay on his back and make the circuit of the exhibition back and make the circuit of the exhibition ring once.

Among the crowd last night was Felix Carr, Rarney Schreiber's great colored jockey, who is a finished horseman. He was eager for the ringmaster to make his crack, and when he got through telling about what a job it was to ride the terrible donkey. Felix came to the front and offered to undertake the task. It is hardly necessary to add that Felix has had unlimited experience with vicious thoroughbreds, and it was nothing for him to master the supposed unbroken donkey. He brought him to time in a hurry, and after riding him around the ring made the circus man "shell eut" the reward.

M'GUIGAN AND DWYER

Like Mike, the Hot Springs Turfman,
Is a Student of the Programme.
Judge J. J. Burke says that Bill McGuigan, the Hot Springs horseman, is a caraful student of the programme, in addition to being a good trainer, and that his careful student of the programme, in addition to being a good trainer, and that his success on the turf is due a great deal to his ability in these particular respects.

Mike Dwyer was the best man for placing horses we had down East," said Judge Burke, "and McGuigan, I should judge, occupies the same relation in this respect to Western turfmen that Dwyer did to those around New York. Dwyer would locate an advantage for his horse in the conditions of a race quicker than any owner I have ever seen and McGuigan is not far behind him.

"The conditions of a great many races provide that winners of $1,000 races shall be penalized. Dwyer would keep the value of many events won by Kingston and Stonenell around $990 by getting horses to scratch out. He "worked this trick successfully for a long time before he was caught.

"McGuigan thought he had a soft spot when he dropped Lady Ines in that six and one-half furiong race with J. A. Gray, but for once he got tripped up, as it took his filly's life to win and she has not been any too good since she received that hard race."

Eugene Leigh ran up Daily America to $3.000 at Hawthorne Thursday, Rogers' horse was entered for $1,100 and his owner bid him in.

Dr. Hasbrouck was assigned top weight, 125 pounds, for the Mound City Handicap at seven and one-half furlongs.

Ben Brush, the phenomenal 2-year-old, won the Harold stakes, worth $2,50, at Latonia. He was held at odds on and won with ease.

Couronne D'Or at 7 to 10 ran unplaced in her race at the Fair Grounds Thursday. Trainer Henry Avis was called into the stand and warned by the judges that if the filly showed marked improvement it would go hard with him.

Charley Van Studdiford has received a jockey P-anse from Secretary Ed Hopper of the Turf Congress. Van weighs 180 pounds now, but with plenty of hard work he can reduce enough to ride in the proposed welterweight races.

Col. M. Lewis Clark showed the Isom boys that Jack Chinn had papers on them that the courts would uphold, and persuaded them to stay with the Kentucky stable.

Rey el Santa Anita has not broken down. He went lame after his last race, but the soreness is disappearing, and it is now believed the will start in the Suburban handicap.

The Fair Association officials have been notified that "Hickey" Bunn's request for a Turf Congress license was refused. Bunn's supposed ownership of the Free Knight stable is thought to be the cause.

CAUSED A SENSATION.

Ferguson Says the Jury Was Tampered With by Baldwin's Friends.

With by Baldwin's Friends.

When the motion for a new trial in the case of Mark Baldwin against Chris. Von der Ahe was argued in the Common Pleas Court in Pittsburg J. Scott Ferguson, counsel for the defendant, caused a sensation by stating that during the trial a telegram had been sent to one of the jurors, who lives at McKeesport, by a base-ball man in the city who was supposed to be a friend of Baldwin. It fell into the hands of a friend of the man to whom it was addressed, and was not given to him until after the verdict was rendered.

Mr. Ferguson argued that this was suffi-

The Browns started to play good ball in Thursday's game with the Phillies, and in the first two innings piled up five runs, three of which were made by Cooley's home run. knocked out and badly bruised about the body.

The barge was boarded by thirty men, and the four sailors taken off by force. They were brought to the hall of the Seamen's Union on pretense of being admitted to the union. The doors were then locked and the whole assaulted the sailors, kicking and beating them until they were half insensible. They were then thrown bodily down the stairs.

The Angus Smith is a three-master and came from Ashland, heavily loaded with lumber. The contention between the beaten sailors and the union is the wage scale. The union cards demand $1.50 st day, and it is alleged these men are only receiving $1 a day.

A lieutenant and six bolicemen guarded the vessel all night. More trouble is expected, as Capt. Townsend says that there will be bloodshed if there is any attempt made to again interfere with his men.

Special to The Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 7.—The announcement in the papers of June 4 that Wm. C. Templeton was dying from sunstroke conveyed no particular meaning to many readers.

Yet, Mr. Templeton was a friend and partner of Cornelius Vanderbilt and a friend of Presidents Plerce and Polk. He was born near Wheeling, W. Va., eighty-four years ago.

In the early thirties he owned the largest fleet of steamers on the Ohio and Mississippi and had removed to New Orleans. When the Mexican war broke out, President Polk appointed him a Colonel and he served on Gen. Taylor's staff. After the war Templeton and Vanderbilt organized the Nicaraguan Transit Co. In later years Templeton moved to Washington. During the civil war he was an ardent Southern sympathizer and went to Richmond to live. Afterwards he came to New York. He was greatly admired among the old financiers for his strict integrity and high-minded business methods, and by all who knew him for his generosity.

DECREASE OF 11.6 PER CENT. In Estimate of the Cotton Acreage and

NEW YORK, June 7.—According to the re NEW YORK, June 7.—According to the report of the cotton acreage of 1895 and the crop estimate issued by the Financial Chronicle the percentage of acreage decrease has been as follows:

North Carolina, 20; South Carolina, 10; Georgia, 13; Florida, 5; Alabama, 11; Mississipp, 10; Louisiana, 14; Texas, 11; Arkansas, 12; Tennessee, 9; other States and Territories, 12%.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 7.—C. W. England, the attorney who was arrested a few days ago on a warrant from Arkansas, has returned. He was charged with having received, as President of the Bank of Lonoke, public funds on deposit, in violation of an Arkansas statute, providing that it should be embegulement for any person or corporation to loan or receive public funds. The funds were received prior to the present statute, but the failure of the bank during the panic of 185 prevented the repayment to the county of about £5 per cent of the amount received. While it was never contended that Mr. England had fraudulently manipulated the affairs of the bank, he was indicted seemingly as a test case. Upon his arrival in Arkansas, Mr. England was met by his friends with the necessary papers and released. Before returning to this city he obtained a written statement from the receiver of the defunct bank, as well as from the liwyers was are prosecuting the suits, that no fraudulent or irregular transactions existed during his administration of the bank's affairs. Mr. England is consident that the suit will be dismissed. tories, 12%.

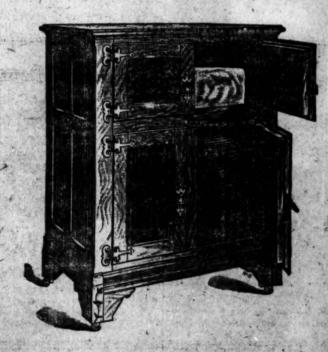

The average decrease is 11.6 per cent. The acreage is 17,761,663, against 20,107,247. The small decrease in Florida is due to larger planting of sea island cotton. The condition of the plant was less satisfactory at the close of the month than at the same date last year. The States of less promise are the Carolinas and Georgia, but the plant is late almost everywhere, as is farm work. The condition is not necessarily unpromising, but more depends upon future development than has been the case in some other productive years.
